Rochester, PA – Mark A. Ohlund, VP of Technology Strategy for PLS Logistics Services, has been named CIO of the Year by the Pittsburgh Technology Council and the Greater Pittsburgh CIO Group. The honor was bestowed upon Mark at the Westin Convention Center in Pittsburgh on February 6.

The award honors innovation and creativity among chief information officers in industry, academia and government and is awarded based on organizational size. Mark was named winner in the Growth category for companies with fewer than 250 employees.

As VP of Technology Strategy for PLS Logistics Services, Mark is responsible for the company's proprietary web-based Transportation Management System which helps orchestrate the movement of nearly one million multi-modal shipments annually. He has consistently ensured software and development processes are implemented that result in streamlined applications for all users. These processes have contributed to the growth of the company by delivering world-class service while reducing costs. Additionally, his efforts support the company's mission to be the strongest link in our customers' supply chain.
