FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

PLS Logistics Names John Gallardo President and CEO

September 26, 2007

Rochester, PA – PLS Logistics Services, a leading non-asset based, third-party logistics company, has appointed John F. Gallardo to the position of President and Chief Executive Officer. John, an experienced growth executive, was most recently a Senior Vice President at Eagle Global Logistics, a non-asset based freight forwarder with gross revenues in excess of $3 billion.

John possesses a broad knowledge of the transportation and non-asset based logistics industry and has significant experience in growing and leading successful organizations. He is charged with leading the company into a new era of growth and development where an aggressive initiative to become a billion dollar transportation logistics entity has been launched.

“I am excited about joining PLS and the bright future for the entire PLS family. It is thrilling to lead this company as we venture into new markets and offer new products on our way to becoming a billion dollar organization,” Gallardo remarked.

Based in Rochester, PA, just north of Pittsburgh, PLS ships nearly one million loads annually utilizing a proprietary web-based transportation management platform. These loads are transported throughout North America via a network of nearly 5,000 motor carriers with more than 75,000 trucks, Class-1 railroads and major barge companies.
